STRATEGIC WATER SUPPLY

Join us for a discussion with Mariel Nanasi and Melissa Troutman regarding the Governor's "Strategic Water Supply." The name of the project is extremely misleading. The Governor wants to subsidize private projects to provide industrial water supplies from oilfield produced water or deep brackish groundwater. Treatment will be incredibly expensive; the carbon footprint immense. These ideas don't make sense.

Spend time with our experts to learn why this detrimental water program is infeasible and takes time, energy, and money away from serious water planning, modernization, and water rights enforcement.
