

New Mexico's Women: Heritage and Innovation
HERstory Symposium

July 27, 3-5 pm, Santa Fe Prep Auditorium
1101 Camino Cruz Blanca

Hear women historians explore women's contributions to our state's rich and unique multicultural environment. Learn how women from different socio-economic and ethnic backgrounds have built community, the arts, and progress towards equality.

Panelists:

*Nicolasa Chávez - Deputy State Historian of New Mexico, curator, author, Flamenco and Tango artist

*Robin Farwell Gavin - Curator Emeritus, Spanish Colonial Arts Museum, author of Converging Streams: Art of the Hispanic and Native American Southwest.

*Frances Levine, Ph.D. - Southwest history expert, author, former president of Missouri Historical Society and former director of the NM History Museum.

*Lisa Nordstrum - History teacher, Santa Fe Preparatory School; curriculum developer on women's history for NM's new Social Studies Standards, former educator at the NM History Museum,

*Sylvia Ramos Cruz, MD. - NM women's suffrage expert, poet, writer, artist, women's rights advocate, and retired surgeon.

Moderator:

*Meredith Machen, Ph.D. - LWVNM Projects Director/Education Co-Chair, social justice and democracy advocate, former VP/professor SFCC, NM Listens organizer.

Please register in advance for this hybrid event even if you are attending in person:

<https://www.eventbrite.com/e/368504515927>. Online participants will use Zoom.

NM Listens, a collaborative project of the League of Women Voters of NM and the NM Humanities Council, is supported by the National Endowment for the Humanities. This program will be recorded.

More info: projects@lwvnm.org, 505 577-6337

