

The FOSM Trail Crew continued work on the new Wagon Trail that will connect the Horse Bypass Trail and the Sulfur Picnic Area on Thursday, December 23, 2021, Nine intrepid, hardy volunteers showed up despite early sprinkles and overcast, mostly cloudy and breezy conditions.

We cut tread up a very steep slope just above the Sulfur Picnic Ground parking lot. We worked up towards our previous work from the start of the flagging. We were so close to the picnic area I could unlock my car from the trail – ha.

This slope is some of the steepest we have worked on so it was slow going. Even so, we feel like we accomplished a a lot.

The hardy volunteers were: Jim Houle, Byron Garner, Pat Madden, Pat Madden, Bruce Hansche, Courtnee Bennett, Sim Cook, Phil Cromer, and Eric Russell.

Courtnee, Pat and Mike de-rocking the start

Best blurry picture where I missed Bruce (at the right) swinging the axe cutting out a big root in the trail. Lots of new white helmets in evidence.
